"I am committed to delivering thoughtful, results-driven counsel while ensuring clients remain informed and confident throughout the process."

Brian Lee Krell is a client-focused attorney who works to achieve the best possible outcomes by carefully evaluating each client's circumstances and identifying practical, effective solutions. He takes a thoughtful approach to every matter, considering all reasonable options while maintaining clear and consistent communication throughout the process to keep clients informed and engaged.

As a Maryland bankruptcy attorney, Brian approaches client relationships with empathy and understanding, taking the time to listen to both the financial and personal aspects of each situation before determining a course of action. His background includes experience in client-centered roles and work in Congress addressing constituent concerns, which has shaped his ability to communicate with compassion while remaining efficient and results-driven.

With additional experience in agriculture and laboratory sciences, Brian brings strong analytical and problem-solving skills to his practice, allowing him to approach matters with both logic and a well-rounded perspective. He values working with clients who are honest, communicative, and committed to the process.

Outside of the office, Brian enjoys weightlifting, golfing, swimming, skiing, and attending Orioles games. He is also actively involved in his community, serving on the Auxiliary Board of Trustees for Washington Jesuit Academy and as Alumni Secretary for his professional fraternity at the University of Maryland.
